KALOS

On the occasion of the Cersaie 2019, Devon&Devon presents the result of its first collaboration with a leading figure in contemporary architecture. For Devon&Devon, a company which for 30 years has represented the contemporary-classic furnishing, Massimo Iosa Ghini has designed Kalos, a washbasin with a mirror which reinterprets sophisticated retro inspirations in a modern twist.

"The basin which receives the water is the visual translation of a dynamic gesture, the soft and slender opening of an elegant corolla", said Iosa Ghini. The concept is based on the observation of the vegetable world: the washbasin design is reminiscent of the soft and sinuous lines of flower petals, which are perfect for collecting dew towards their centre and stem. A large, circular mirror hangs naturally over the basin, being assembled directly on the wall to enable optimal cleaning and maintenance.

The Kalos body is made entirely in White Tec, a mixture created and processed exclusively for Devon&Devon, which guarantees excellent impact and mark strength, and complies with the highest standards in terms of quality and sustainability.
