LAMBRIS

Being an emblem of the classic-contemporary style of Devon&Devon and of the unconventional spirit with which the brand re-interprets traditions and functions, Lambris is a collection of large wall coverings that re-proposes the unforgettable charm of wooden boiserie in a surprising version of fine ceramic.

In addition to the large bevelled slabs (32 x 92 cm), Lambris collection includes strips, frames, plinths and end pieces of different sizes. Thanks to these special coordinated pieces, any type of installation is perfect, whose design choices are accompanied with quality solutions conceived for even the smallest details.

The chromatic colour options are also highly versatile: all the elements of the Lambris line are in fact available in five colours (the classic white, cream, warm grey, black and the new dusty sage) and with a glossy or matt finish.

The ceramic tiles of Lambris collection are produced in an Italian manufacturing area being world-famous for its ability to combine the heritage of artisan knowledge with the most advanced technologies. They are manufactured with the traditional double-firing technique which enhances their materiality and makes them particularly resistant and easy to install.
