Palazzo Cristo San Marco, Venice

To restore a sumptuous abandoned palazzo to its original glory and turn it into the most sophisticated hospitality address in Venice has taken seven years' renovation work, the talent of the best local artisans and all the design skills of the owners, interior designers Anna Covre and Frederic Tubau de Cristo.

Whether you arrive over land or sea (through a secret gate opened onto the canal), as soon as you cross the threshold and your eyes take in the enchanting private garden you realise this is a magical place, out of time and far removed from the chaos of overtourism.

Just a stone's throw from Piazza San Marco, everything here encourages guests to enjoy the intimacy of an unexpected home-from-home, with two bedrooms and four apartment-suites that can be booked individually or en bloc for the privileged treat of staying in a real palazzo.

The interior design boldly combines old and contemporary, with continual references to the shapes and colours of Venetian architecture and the most authentic Italian craftsmanship tradition. From the custom-blown Murano lamps to the Rubelli textiles, brushed marble floors and Admiral and Aurora bathtubs, everything makes a stay here totally memorable.
